

Facts for Weak Women

Nine-tenths of all the sickness of women is due to some derangement or disease of the organs distinctly feminine. Such sickness can be cured—is cured every day by

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

It Makes Weak Women Strong.
Sick Women Well.

It acts directly on the organs affected and is the same as a general restorative tonic for the whole system. It cures female complaint right in the privacy of home. It makes unnecessary the disagreeable questioning, examinations and local treatment so universally insisted upon by doctors, and so abhorrent to every modest woman.

We shall not particularize here as to the symptoms of those peculiar ailments incident to women, but those wanting full information as to their symptoms and means of positive cure are referred to the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser—1000 pages, newly revised and up-to-date Edition, sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only or, in cloth binding for 31 stamps.

THE PASMORES GUESTS OF MISS LOIS KELLY

Famous Musical Trio Finds Friend of Berlin Student Days in Phoenix.

When Mary, Dorothy and Suzanne Pasmore, comprising the talented Pasmore trio, which appeared in concert at the Arizona School of Music a few nights ago, registered at the Adams Annex, one of the most agreeable surprises of their present tour was experienced when they were greeted by Miss Lois Kelly, violinist of the Ladies' Symphony orchestra, now appearing nightly at the Wigwam. American girls, all of them were brought together some two or three years ago while abroad as pupils of Herr Prof. Barnas, in Berlin. Friendships formed then gave promise of being lasting, but separations come with time and finally Miss Kelly returned to America and the Pasmares started on a tour of Europe.

Since the party separated in Berlin Miss Kelly and the Pasmares have not met until the itinerary of the latter brought them to this city. Of course Miss Kelly knew long in advance that Pasmore in concert in Berlin, was much the friends of her Berlin student days were coming to Phoenix, but the Misses Pasmore were unaware that they would find in this city one of the dearest friends of those days when friendships counted more than one who has not been abroad can appreciate.

A joyous reunion followed the arrival of the Pasmore trio in this city in which all the members of the Young Ladies' Symphony orchestra were included. And to make the reunion more real, the Misses Pasmore awaited the coming of Miss Kelly and her companions at the orchestra from their regular appearance at the Wigwam and escorted them over to the conservatory, where despite the fact that it was well along toward midnight, nearly the entire program rendered by the Misses Pasmore earlier in the evening before a larger audience was repeated for the benefit of the few. While it was a smaller audience that greeted the second effort of the Pasmore trio, it was none the less an appreciative one.

Realizing that it would probably be a long time before the party would again be together, the Misses Pasmore remained three days in Phoenix the guests of Miss Kelly and the other members of the ladies' orchestra, and did not leave here until other engagements imperatively demanded that they proceed on their way.

Miss Kelly, who had been accorded the opportunity of hearing the Misses impressed with the marked improvement in the individual work of each of the Misses Pasmore and could easily see that despite the apparent perfection they have already attained there is still a bright future unattained. "The time will come," says Miss Kelly, "when the Pasmore trio will undoubtedly be the most famous musical trio in the world. Each is an artist and each is working to the end that they may perpetuate the Pasmore name, a name already made famous by their father, who is a violin instructor in the San Francisco Conservatory of Music."

THE OLD AND THE NEW WALL STREET.

It is the machinations and intriguing operators of former days which have made the name of Wall street such an irritating appellation to the ears of the voters of the United States. To them the Wall street of today is the Wall street of old, and the denazogues see to it that this opinion is kept alive. No allowance is made for what the new Wall street has accomplished and is doing.

In the old times it would have been considered a slight to have spoken of the banks as a whole as making part of Wall street. Wall street was purely and simply the stock exchange of those days and the gambling elements which constituted its environment. Their object was the making of money, and the choice of methods by which it was made was not always the best. Today Wall street means that part of the financial world which is located in New York. In great enterprises are born and fostered; and the stock exchange is necessarily a component part of Wall street since its doings are noted by the fluctuations chronicled on the exchange; but less and less of these fluctuations now originate in either the exchange itself or its immediate surroundings, as did the fluctuations in times past—J. S. Bach, in Moody's Magazine.

BEANS AND CAULIFLOWER.

One cauliflower, one pint of haricot beans or butter beans, one pint of white sauce, grated cheese. Soak the beans over night; boil until perfectly tender in just enough water to cover. Let the water boil away toward the end of the cooking. Salt to taste. Put the cauliflower in a very little boiling salted water and cook gently twenty minutes. Break into small sprigs. Mix the beans and cauliflower gently together so as not to smash them; turn into a buttered, shallow baking dish, pour over them a pint of well-made white sauce, add the grated cheese over the top and put in the oven to brown. Make the white sauce by the usual rule, adding a teaspoon of vinegar at the last.
